Highlights*Riding in the rain

The 10th anniversary of the Ride for sight was a wash-out in terms of the weathers with rain pouring down all night Friday and most of Saturday. But the bikers proved to be a hardy lot with thousands making the annual pilgrimage to Minden. In spite of the sorry weather, the Ride was a success for the bikers, the RP foundation and the county. ## Residents settle for lesser surface

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

Residents of the Highland Gate Estates have accepted Minden township's offer to cover the subdivision's roads with tar and gravel.

Doug Campbell, chairman of the Highland Gate Estates Taxpayers Association, sent a letter to the township saying, "the residents have reluctantly decided to give you permission to proceed with the tar and gravel surface treatment."

Campbell went on to say that the residents of the subdivision have, "endured wash-outs, pot-holes, blowing sand, unkempt ditches etc., for an unconscionable period, i.e. seven years, and feel the above mentioned surface treatment would be an improvement over the existing conditions."

Since 1982, residents of Highland Gate have been fighting to get the municipality to cover the subdivision roads with asphalt. Their demands were the result of a deal made between developer Roy Windover and the council of the day under Lloyd Walker. Under the terms of the deal, the township agreed to cover the roads with hard-top in exchange for one of the lots in the subdivision being deeded to the municipality.

The municipality sold the lot in 1987 at a price of $10,000 but the roads were never paved. Previous Reeve Sinc Nesbitt told the residents of Highland Gate he considered the subdivision roads to be privately owned and the 1982 by-law "wasn't worth the paper it was written on."

When the present council met with Highland Gate residents in April of this year, they offered to cover the roads with a low-cost bituminous surface treatment, consisting of tar and gravel, and install asphalt gutters to handle run-off.

Tar and gravel is the minimum standard the Ministry of Transportation

Great catch!

Ten-year-old Tommy Bagshaw knew he had a keeper on his line when this 11-pound muskie struck last Tuesday night while fishing with his father, Tom, and Dan Belli on Brady Lake. 'I figured it was a big bass,' Tommy admits. It took him about 15 minutes to land the fish, which measures 39 inches in length—only slightly shorter than Tommy. He found out it wasn't a bass when it jumped right out of the water while he was trying to bring it in. The musky was weighed and measured at Minden Live Bait and Tackle.

Domer brings smiles to sick kids

The SkyDome is bringing smiles to the faces of Toronto baseball fans, but at Sick Kids Hospital in Toronto it's Domer, the official mascot, who is brightening the lives of the patients.

Last week, after the gala opening of the SkyDome, every patient at the hospital was given one of the Domer puppets. "The little fellows have brightened up a lot of kids," said Betty Trumble, whose granddaughter, Breanna Barras, is in the hospital.

Domer, a turtle puppet, was fashioned by Sennitt Design of Carnarvon and was accepted as the official mascot of the new SkyDome stadium. More than 50,000 of the cuddly little puppets were handed out at the grand opening and still more were delivered to the hospital.

Breanna Barras has been in and out of the hospital for the past two and a half years. The daughter of Randy and Judy Barras of Minden has been fighting and beating the odds since she was born with a physical problem that causes hemorrhaging of the brain.

Breanna just loves her Domer puppet, said Trumble. "When she first saw him, she put her arm out and gave him a big hug." Breanna underwent her 30th operation last Monday, and Domer was right there to greet her when she woke up later.

"Not only is he great at the Dome, but he's a hit at Sick Kids," said Trumble.

Work is progressing on Bowron Homestead

Things are moving along at a surprising pace over at the log house that was moved next to the museum last summer. George Hewitt was putting a coat of mortar between the old hewn logs last week, and expects to have that work completed early this week. The log house, which the museum committee has dubbed the Bowron Homestead, used to be located where the new Minden Home Hardware store now stands. The house, which is about 130 years old will become part of the museum once the restoration is complete. Although it is starting to look finished on the outside, there is still a good deal of work to be done to the interior. Museum committee member Stan Hill is asking anyone interested in volunteering their labour on this project to get in touch with him.

Although it never panned out, the long lead-up to what was to be the creation of an industrial park in Minden has served to illustrate the desire and need for such a facility in this community.

Dozens of established and potential businesses were anxiously awaiting the opening of a fully-serviced industrial park just outside of the village. Unfortunately, the land purchase ran into some sort of legal snag and ultimately the whole deal has folded.

In the meantime, though, Minden has established an industrial committee, that now faces the task of locating another suitable piece of property on which light industry can be centralized, away from residential development. Unless the committee succeeds in its mandate, the area will continue to lose out on potential employers and small pockets of industrial development will continue dot the landscape of this community.

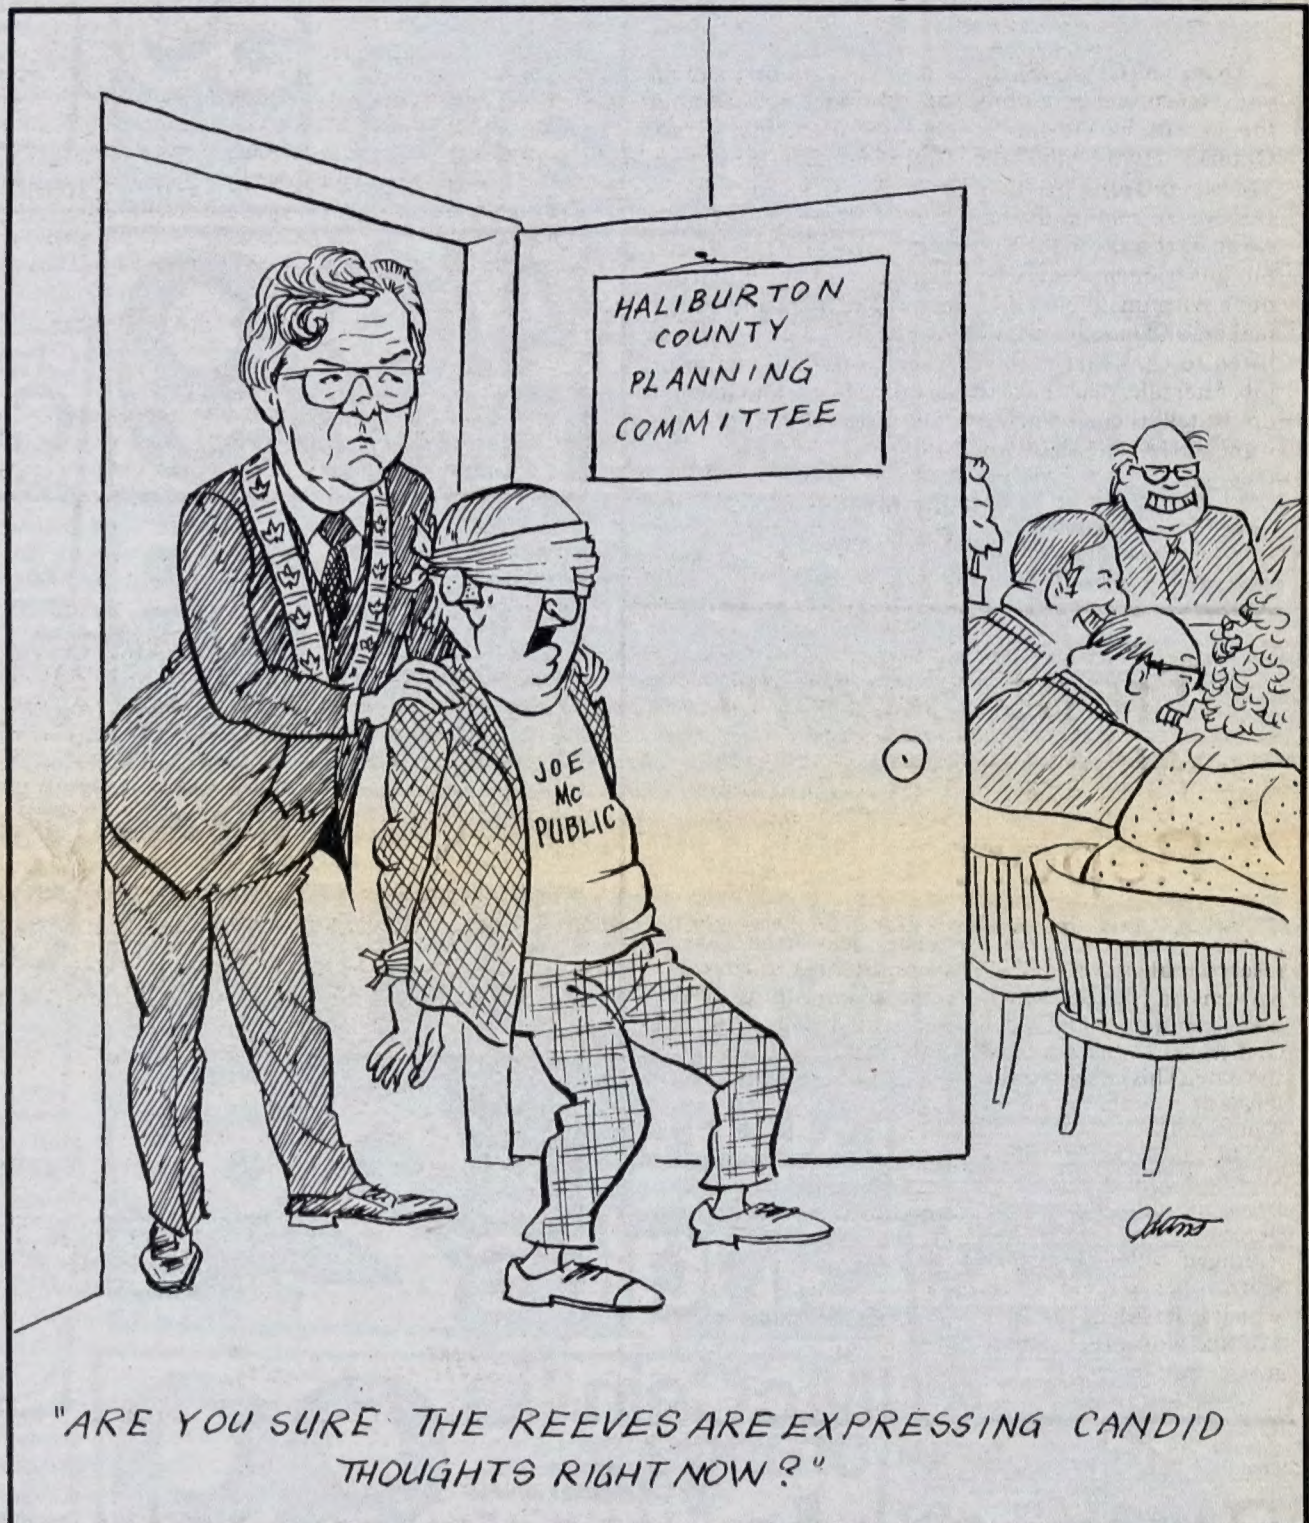

Minden Council deserves some credit for the efforts it is making to find suitable industrial land in the area. However, with each passing week, there is more missed opportunity simply because the land is not already available. With the economy of this province still riding a wave, now is the time to attract and secure new development. Once the wave has passed, we can have all the industrial land in the world and no one to fill it.

For this reason there is some urgency for the committee and council to focus their attention on creating some form of industrial park. If land cannot be found within the municipal boundaries, then there must be some consideration given to co-operating with neighbouring municipalities that have land available.

The fact that there is no available industrial land in Minden can not be entirely blamed on council. Past councils have tried to find suitable industrial sites, but it's been a political hot potato with the certainty of loud objections to whatever is proposed.

This area can't afford to have splatterings of light industry shooting up in areas that are not ideally suited for this purpose. Even so-called clean industry tends to be a bit of an eyesore when it is allowed to develop in a residential or commercial area.

In recent weeks there has been a great deal of attention paid to planning for residential development and to back-lot development in this municipality. If as much attention can be focused on sound planning for light industrial development, we should see an industrial park in the not-too-distant future.

Well, I don't wear Pampers and cool teenage pimples no longer make my mug look like a relief map of South Korea, so I guess I'm well into Phase Three of my meander through life.

I'll tell you one consolation about being "obsolete" though - you don't have to pretend any more. I've already wasted too many hours pretending to like things I either hated or didn't understand.

Things like televised sports. For more years than I can remember, almost every male I know has gone into a trance two or three times a year, coinciding (surprise!) with The World Series, The Superbowl and The Stanley Cup playoffs. I always felt vaguely guilty that I couldn't remember the name of the second baseman, the tight end or the goalie for Hartford. I began to question my virility. After all, what kind of a man would rather read a book than watch a bench-clearing brawl in the Calgary Saddledome? What kind of a limp-wristed pencil-neck geek prefers a walk in the bush to following the play-by-play of a Blue Jays double-header?

This kind of geek, that's who - and now that I'm no longer a spring chicken, I don't care who knows it. TV sports bore my shorts off and if I go to a party and Chuck and the boys want to cluster like barnacles around the boob tube, let 'em. I'll be in the kitchen chatting with the women - they're more interesting to talk to anyway.

There are at least two more logs I want to pitch on my bonfire of vanities: avant-garde music and modern art.

How many times have I sat, nodding my head sagely while some vacant-eyed flake with a keyboard blew clouds of utterly unconnected notes into my earhole? How many times have I shuffled through art galleries stroking my chin and murmuring "interesting, inter-

Trent-Severn Waterways Report

The Haliburton Area reservoir lakes averaged 99 per cent on May 29, which was about one-half per cent less than last year for the date. This exceeded the ten-year average by about 4 per cent.

The Gull River flow averaged 23.6 cubic metres per second the week preceding May 29, but has averaged only 17.6 cubic metres per second since, which is less than the June average of 19.1 cubic metres per second.

The Kawartha Lakes averaged near their early summer levels most of the week to Friday, June 2 with some increase near the end of the week due to rains.

Otonabee River flows were reduced sharply on May 29 to stop a decline in the Kawarthas. Present (June 2) flow is about 57 cubic metres per second, where the usual June flow averages 51 cubic metres per second.

Progress accelerates erosion at FON ravine

by Marion Strebig
Federation of Ontario
Naturalists

A rainy May has helped to offset the effects of an abnormally dry year. However, in the ravine near the Federation of Ontario Naturalists, the rain has called attention to another problem, erosion, brought about by human interference.

Progress decreed the expansion of the highway system adjacent to the ravine. As a result the course of the small creek which runs through the ravine was altered. In reconstructing the banks, large amounts of fill were used, and, in spite of the introduction of woody plant materials on the slope, there has been considerable erosion. May's rains have further exacerbated the problem. In places, islands of bank vegetation have slipped down toward the creek.

The erosion of the creek bank is a small example of a problem which is global in character. In its report, Soil at Risk, published in 1984, the standing Senate Committee on Agriculture, Fisheries and Forests, begins with a quotation from the Soil and Water Conservation Society of America, Ontario Chapter. "Soil erosion may well be the most underrated and most damaging natural resource problem of the 80's." The problem of erosion is directly related to soil degradation which the report indicated was costing Canadian farmers more than one billion dollars per year in income. No doubt the figures are even higher today.

Anyone who has attempted to create a garden in the soil of a new subdivision has had direct contact with soil degradation. Thirty years ago, in my small suburban plot, I found that the soil was the solid clay substratum. Virtually all the topsoil had been scraped away. It took years to put sufficient organic material back into the soil in the form of peat moss, manure, grass clippings, compost and leaf mould, to make it rich and friable. But finally I had a vegetable patch which would feed my small family, and a wild garden along the back of the property.

My soil problem, lack of organic material which led to a compacted soil which resisted water absorption, and was therefore susceptible to erosion from both wind and water, is a problem which faces many landowners in Ontario. Much of the problem is of our own making. In urban areas, new development routinely scrapes away the rich top layer of soil, and, in farming country, the old more leisurely agriculture practices have given way before the push for ever higher production. In the process the limits of the soil are ignored, and the old techniques which replenished the soil like crop rotation, leaving land for extended periods as pasture, and the application of large amounts of manure have largely been abandoned.

Now a single annual crop like corn is grown year after year on the same soil, and practices which are hard on the soil like continuous row cropping and intensive tillage are common. Studies on soil degradation in Ontario have shown that the loss of organic material from intensive crop production is as high as 30 per cent.

Tenth anniversary Ride For Sight....

Ride for Sight celebrated its tenth anniversary last weekend in grand style, with a party and record-breaking fund raising to help battle retinitis pigmentosa, a group of genetic eye diseases.

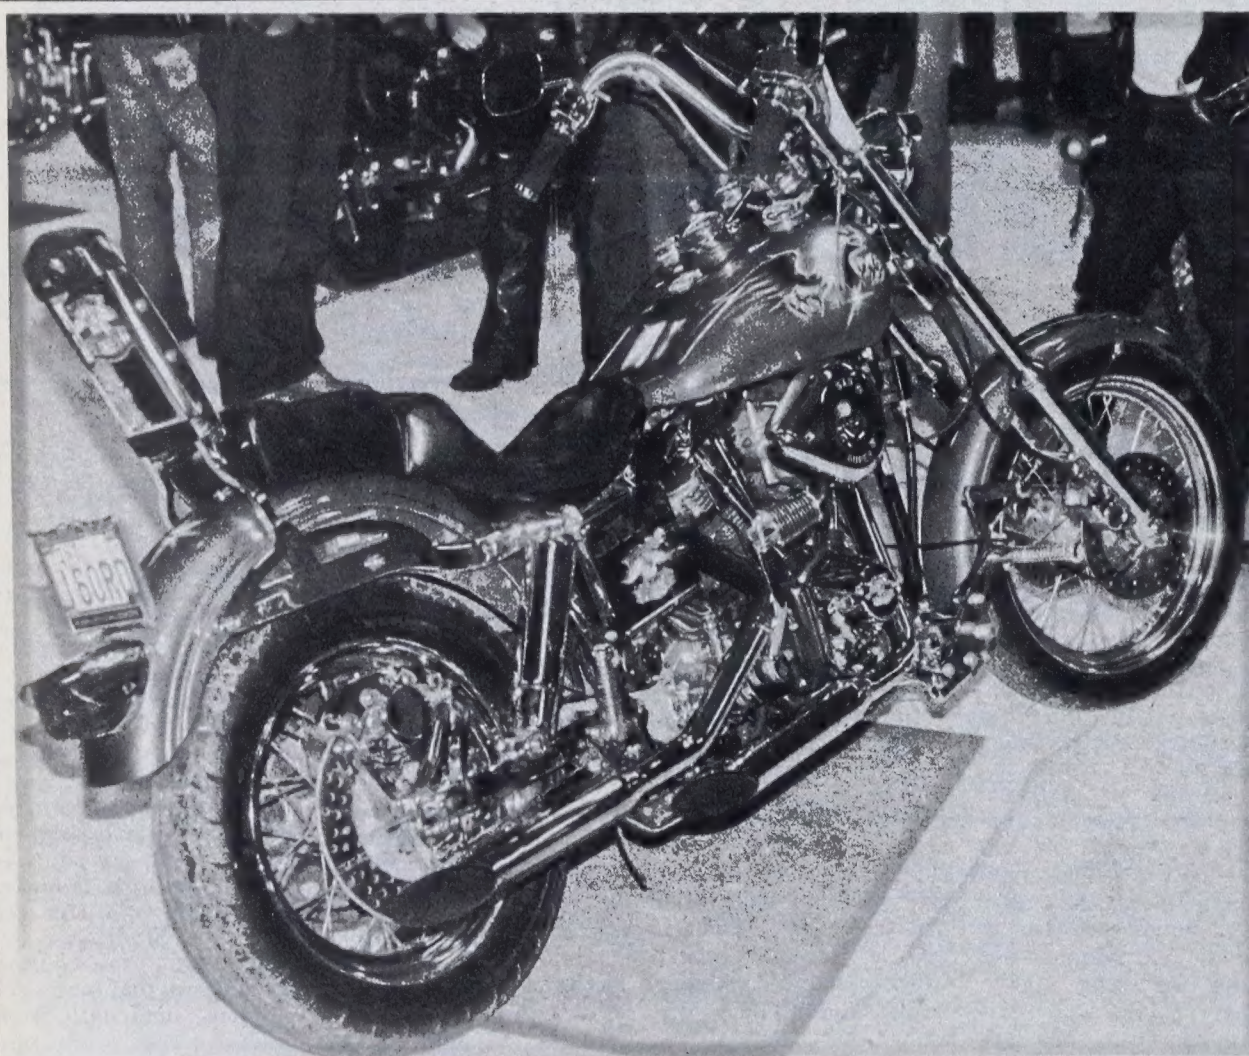

By Sunday morning, organizers had counted $425,000 dollars and were confident of reaching the half-million dollar mark.

"It went very smoothly," said Nora Frood, of the Retinitis Pigmentosa Foundation. Frood said the Minden arena was alive with excitement during Saturday night's big party. "The whole arena was jumping. The atmosphere was fabulous with everyone celebrating this year's successful fund-raising.

....likely to meet million dollar goal

The rainy weather which the Minden area experienced on Friday and Saturday may have kept some riders from participating in the events but Frood estimates that about 4,500 people braved the weather and made the trip to the fairgrounds.

Bob Kemp, one of the 80 people who made up the Ride For Sight support team, said there were very few problems with this year's event.

Kemp, his wife Marcie and even their four-year-old daughter Crystal, helped in getting the participants organized and supervising the campsite.

The Ride for Sight was started in 1979 by a Toronto Motorcycle Club called the York Wings. One of the Wings' members had retinitis pigmentosa and the club came up with the idea of organizing a ride to raise money to help fund research into the disease.

The event soon grew to encompass the entire province of Ontario and, in 1983, the national Ride was introduced across Canada. This year there were 19 separate rallies held across the country, said Frood.

The largest of the rallies is the one hosted by Minden.

This year the national fund raising goal was one million dollars and Frood said with the early tally nearing the $900,000 mark, the goal will probably be very close to being met.

One of the highlights of the Ride For Site is the trip from Pickering to Minden with the Ontario Provincial Police's precision motorcycle riding team, the Golden Helmets in the lead. This year, 1,800 bikes carrying 2,400 riders participated in the formation, which took 20 minutes to pass any given point along the route.

Once in Minden the riders participated in field events, a bike show and a party. The Golden Helmets delighted the crowd along Main Street with an exhibition of their riding skills.

Frood says a meeting will be held on Sunday to evaluate this year's ride and work will begin in September in organizing the 1990 event.

Minden hopes to ban houseboats from lakes

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

A bylaw banning the use of houseboats in Anson, Hindon and Minden Townships may be in store as a result of discussion surrounding the proposal for new docking facilities at Allsaw Bridge Marine.

Marine owner Wes Lytle appeared at Thursday's council meeting to try and get approval for his expansion and Deputy-Reeve Bern Berry mentioned that the greatest concern among area residents about the new docks is the possibility of their being used to moore houseboats.

Berry proposed a resolution directing the township's clerk-treasurer, Mary Mysyk, to research a by-law restricting houseboats in Minden. The resolution was unanimously adopted by council in a recorded vote.

Council also requested that Lytle provide the by-law officer Brad Bradamore with a site plan outlining where the required number of parking spots for his operation will be located. Under township regulations, marinas are required to have one parking space for every boat slip provided and one parking spot for every 27.5 square meters of retail floor space. Under the regulation, Lytle will have to provide about 40 parking spaces once his two docks, with a total of 36 slips, are installed.

The issue first came before council in March when Lytle presented his plans to council along with letters of approval from the Canadian Coast Guard, which has jurisdiction over navigable waterways, and the Ministry of Natural Resources, which has control over the lake bed.

'Houseboats are not my intention and they never have been,' says Wes Lytle of his plans to expand the docking facilities at Allsaw Bridge Marine.

At that time it was council's impression that they had no authority to make a decision on the project because it fell outside of their jurisdiction.

The project resurfaced at the council table last month when the township received letters from area residents who had concerns about the project and copies of letters from the Ministry of Natural Resources stating that municipal approval for the expansion is required.

When he attended the council meeting on Thursday, Lytle said he had the feeling of "deja-vu" and presented his plans to the councillors again. He told council that the building permit required from the Ministry of Natural Resources to build on Crown land is being held in abeyance until the municipality sends a letter of approval to the ministry.

After Berry presented his concerns about the possibility of houseboats being moored at Allsaw Bridge Marine, Lytle said he supported the idea but identified two possible problems with the by-law.

The first concern Lytle raised was the definition of houseboat. One of the letters from a local resident also mentioned concerns about pontoon boats as a possible noise and pollution problem.

The second of Lytle's concerns was that while half of Lake Kashagawigamog is located in Minden Township, the rest lies in Dysart et al. Lytle said two townships having different regulations regarding one lake could lead to confusion.

As far as the new docks are concerned, Lytle said, "houseboats are not my intention and they never have been." Under the conditions for docking at Allsaw Bridge Marine listed on the price-list for the facility it states that there will be no "live-aboards" allowed.

Council expressed concern about liability in the event there was ever an accident involving the docks, but Lytle said his insurance covers the marina's facilities, including the proposed docks.

Councillor Bob Sisson has always maintained that the two docks should be well-lit to avoid the possibility of collision and Lytle agreed to install some sort of warning light at the end of the structures if the council wished.

Of the 36 new slips he will be creating,

Lytle said 18 would be leased out and 18 would be kept for use by the marina.

In addressing concerns about increased traffic on the water as a result of his docks, Lytle said that even if all 18 slips were rented out it would increase the number of boats on the water by less than three per cent.

Another concern that area residents have about the expansion is that it will interfere with traffic in the channel. One objector said that the Coast Guard may have inspected the location in the spring while water levels are high but the problem would increase as the lake level dropped through out the summer.

Lytle responded to this concern by saying the site had been inspected in October when the levels were "rock bottom." He also assured council that since the docks will be secured to the existing retaining wall they won't move farther into the channel as water levels decrease but will float in place. He said the docks will be removed from the water during the winter.

Once the township is satisfied that Lytle will be able to comply to the by-law with regards to parking, a letter of approval will be sent to the ministry.

After the discussion, Berry told The Times that he hoped council's unanimous approval of the resolution to enact a houseboat by-law will help convince Dysart council to take similar action.

Last summer Lutterworth council passed a similar by-law forbidding the launching or docking of houseboats from the township's shores.

Property not available for Minden's proposed industrial park

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

The land being sought by Anson, Hindon and Minden Townships to develop a municipal industrial park is no longer available.

The announcement that the deal to purchase the property from Wally and Joan Bunn had fallen through came at last Thursday's council meeting.

"The property is no longer available to Anson, Hindon and Minden, period. So we must look for another spot," said Reeve Ray Moore.

The township's intention to purchase the property was first made public in late March, when Moore announced that the Bunn had agreed to sell the 97-acre parcel of land and develop it into 40 industrial lots.

However it was announced during a council meeting almost three weeks ago that the negotiations to finalize the sale of the property had run into trouble. The nature of the difficulties has not been revealed.

The Bunn would not comment on the decision not to sell other than to confirm that the land is no longer available to the township.

Industrial Committee Chairman Bill Payne, the only committee member authorized to release information to the press was unavailable for comment at press time.

Meanwhile the committee, consisting of Moore, councillor Mike Maher, Don Joynt, Dean Elliot, Chief Building Official Brad Bradamore and Payne, has set up sub-committees to administer an industrial park once a new location has been found.

Joynt has been appointed to look after budgets, set up accounts, look into grants and look into prices for the lots.

Moore is responsible for the lay-out of the park, getting prices on road construction, leveling and cleaning of lots and the design for the park entrance.

Payne will look after correlating all inquiries and working with the other members on the lay-out of the park.

Maher will look into and recommend other areas that could be used for other parks and Elliot will organize publicity, look after advertising to promote the park, and look into preparing brochures and information books.

esting" in front of canvasses that look like close-ups of the floor of a baboon's cage? No more! John Cage, get out of my stereo! Jackson Pollock, all your paintings look like pizzas!

And I guess since the fire's burning anyway I might as well toss in opera. I don't like opera. It's probably a failure of imagination on my part but I just can't keep a straight face watching a middle-aged 250-pound mezzo-soprano warbling about the trials of being a teen-age virgin. And anyway, I don't like my singing to be quite that ... intense. In opera, everybody sounds like they just sat on something cold or sharp.

Getting older doesn't just mean learning things the hard way. Sometimes 'obsolescence' comes sprinkled with tiny grains of wisdom that enable you to spot a fad or a trend on the horizon and reject it outright.

Sushi, for example. I have never tried sushi and I never will. Somehow I just innately knew that eating raw fish was a bad idea (unless you happen to be a harp seal, a pelican or a raw fish yourself).

But the Sushi Craze swept the fern bars and upscale eateries of North America and I was mocked as a fuddy duddy stick-in-the-mud.

Last week, vindication. Doctors in a Boston hospital operated on a patient supposedly suffering from acute appendicitis. His appendix was fine. As he was about to stitch the patient up, the surgeon, peering, murmured "Wait a minute," he said, "I'll be damned. It's a worm." Indeed it was - and a live one. It came from a fish dish the patient had eaten the night before. Had that dish been cooked, the worm would have been too, but it was sushi and the worm was alive and happy to move into roomier digs. Fortunately, the doctors got the worm before it had a chance to burrow into the guy's intestinal wall and set up house.

It seems sushi lovers forgot why we cook things in the first place. It's not just to make them smell good - it's to kill unwanted hitchhikers.

José Simon has the best line about the food fad. "In Mexico" says Simon, "we have a word for sushi." "Bait".

Dedication and professionalism are trademarks of Highlands teachers

"We still have the smallness from which great strength can come."

With those telling words, Haliburton County Board of Education Chairman Wendy Ladurantaye summed up the strength of the education system in this county. Speaking before the annual Chairman's Banquet, Wednesday at Pinestone Inn, the Anson, Hindon and Minden trustee paid tribute to the many individuals who have helped to make her term as head of the board, an enjoyable and challenging one. "We have tremendous dedication and professionalism in our teachers," She said the retiring teachers are leaving a legacy which will serve the teachers who will follow in their footsteps. "You have added one more block to the foundation of education in the county," she told the gathering.

Among the teachers and board members who were honoured during the special banquet were:

-Ruth Gorrie, principal of Victoria Street School, who has taught in the county since 1958. Mrs. Gorrie has also been the county-wide Primary Consultant, and helped introduce the Early Identification Program for beginning students. She has also served on a number of provincial committees and been an instructor at summer courses.

Responding to the best wishes, Mrs. Gorrie thanked the board for the support they provided over the years. She said if there was one bit of advice she could leave with the board, it would be to repeat that which she received from the retired Director of Education Doug Hodgson. "When in doubt, he told me, think of the little children and then do the best you can."

Mrs. Gorrie paid tribute to three principals who influenced her efforts. The trio included Marg Robinson, her principal in Toronto, former Archie Stouffer Elementary School principal Harold Morgan and the present Director of Education Stuart Baker.

-Gerald Irish is stepping down as vice-principal of J. Douglas Hodgson school. He has been a teacher in Haliburton County since 1955. Mr. Irish has added to the school environment with his expertise in planning and his artistic flair. He is retiring to join his wife in the operation of the Silver Maple Motel in Haliburton.

-Gareth Kellett is retiring from the position of vice-principal at Archie Stouffer Elementary School in Minden. He has taught in the county for more than 16 years, and was a teacher in the Oakville area for 15 years. He has also served as an officer of the Men Teacher's Federation.

-Kay Finlay is retiring as teacher and administrative assistant to the principal at the Wilberforce school. She has taught since 1954 in the eastern part of the county and for a time in Bancroft and Montague Public schools.

-Doris Chambers, first taught in 1954 in the Whitechurch area. She has been a teacher at the J. Douglas Hodgson School since 1982.

-Richard Vaughan, has been teaching instrumental music at HHSS since 1979. He has brought enthusiasm to the school's music program and helped the students win a number of provincial and national

Monmouth to sell former school property

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

Monmouth council has agreed to sell a portion of township property which was once owned by the Monmouth-Glamorgan School Area.

The 1.5-acre parcel is located on the corner of Highway 121 and the Essonville Line and sold to Tim Mayhew of Haliburton for $15,000.

The land was given to the municipality in 1968 by the Monmouth-Glamorgan school board along with a cheque for $1,000 with the intent of establishing the lot as a conservation area. The pine trees growing on the lot were planted by students attending the Essonville School.

The $1,000 was invested by the township in a separate account and the interest earned by the money was supposed to pay for the upkeep of the created conservation area.

However, nothing was ever done to the land in the last 20 years and recently the township has received several inquiries by people wishing to purchase the lot. The land was put up for sale by tender, and eight proposals were received ranging in price from $1,856 to Mayhew's offer of $15,000.

Monmouth clerk-treasurer Sharon Stoughton-Craig says there was never any covenant put on the deed to the land requiring its conversion to a conservation area and the council of the day never acted on any intention to do so. In fact, the minutes from the meeting when council accepted the deed were never signed so Stoughton-Craig says they are not legal.

Meanwhile, the $1,000, which has sat idle in its account for the past two decades, has now grown to about $4,000. With the sale of the land, the account will be closed out and the money transferred to the township's general funds.

There had been concern from some residents that the land be converted to a park as originally intended but Reeve Keith Tallman said the township can't look after the parks it already has.

The Delta-Conic® Advantage

The Delta-Conic® hull incorporates three basic features that combine to give you superior performance and an exceptionally smooth ride.

1 THE "CONIC" The bow section has a deep entry forward and conical-shaped surfaces extending from the keel to the chine. This design provides clean entry into water for optimum waterflow with minimum drag.

2 THE "DELTA" Delta-shaped aft sections are of constant deadrise, delivering a superior planing surface. Thanks to this configuration, the bow rises gently, and the boat comes to plane at lower speeds than other hull designs. There is no waste of power "digging" into the water. And it not only stays on plane more easily, but it stays on plane even at midrange speeds.

3 THE CHINE An obvious deviation from normal hulls is the wide-lipped chine bow to stern on the Delta-Conic® hull. This design provides an incredible dampening effect on rolling; there is no continuing pendulum effect that is so common in V-hull bottoms. The result is an exceptionally stable platform, as well as a dry ride — even at full throttle.

Conical surfaces have no compound curve. A straight edge laid on the area will be in line contact at all times.
Delta sections are symmetrically disposed flat surfaces.

Wide chine remains constant, except for taper at bow. Unique design dampens lateral roll; reverse angle directs spray away during planing.

Conical contour extends 1/3 of hull length at the keel, and approximately 2/3 the length at the chine.

Meeting the needs of today's boater with famous Larson above waterline features and below waterline efficiency.

Larson Boats, long known for value, style and performance, started the pleasure boating industry in 1980 with their new hull design concept. Today, Larson pleasure boat owners and sport-fishermen alike enjoy the benefits of the patented Delta-Conic Hull.

The Delta-Conic Hull offers the best combination of interior space and hull design in boating history. By utilizing the features of the patented Delta-Conic Hull, Larson has designed their lines of pleasure boats and offshore fishing boats with unequalled efficiency and performance.

Reduce fuel consumption.

The Larson Delta-Conic Hull design provides exceptional helm response and reduced fuel consumption. By getting on plane quickly, the Delta-Conic reduces forward wallow.

Larson Delta-Conic helm response is especially important to skiers, boaters and fishermen anxious to get on the move. It effectively eliminates the bow to the sky problem common to so many popular outboard and I/O models.

Enhance your leisure cruising.

Today the leisure boater spends more time than ever in slow leisure cruising. Larson Delta-Conic enhances leisure cruising by reducing stern movement found in many other boats. The Larson Delta-Conic also has the capacity to stay on plane at lower speeds while maintaining on-plane control.

During a performance test, Powerboat Magazine found that a Larson Delta Sportcruiser was able to maintain plane at just 16 mph with its I/O turning at just 2500 rpm.

Handle the rough water with ease.

When it comes to handling rough water, the Delta-Conic really performs. The sharp Larson V forward of midship handles tough chops and ominous swells alike. When the Larson settles back down after a waterborne lift, the gentle V running amidship to the transom cushions re-entry.

Powerboat Magazine found the Larson Delta Sportcruiser handled superbly in rough water.

"During the time of the Sportcruiser test, the wind was blowing at a very gusty 20 mph, and the water conditions were a combination of whitecaps with rolling swells. No matter from what direction we tackled the water, the boat sliced through with incredible ease!"

the Larson Delta-Conic gives you the most for your boat dollar.

More room for living and storage.

"I can't believe the roomy feeling I got from this 25 foot boat!" That's another comment from Powerboat Magazine's report on the Larson Delta Sportcruiser. Its

CROSS-SECTION AFT VIEW

A Delta sections maintain constant deadrise angle to chine.
B Chine lip portion extends at an angle opposite the same delta sections angle.

CROSS-SECTION FORE VIEW

A Total width of chines, stern to bow, is approximately 20% of total hull width.

And, the Delta-Conic keeps you dry. Note the wide lip chine in the illustration. These "flats" which run the length of the hull, contribute to stability and a dry ride.

Because of the outstanding design of the Delta-Conic hull, Larson boats perform while at the same time conserving fuel. Whether in full flight from foul weather or in full chase of fish or other fun on the water, outstanding cabin design gives you the feeling of a much larger boat. The Delta-Conic hull offers more room for living and storage space as well as efficient deck plans assure more room for fun at dockside.

Because of Larson's superb combination of hull design and above waterline features, Delta-Conic models are winning acclaim for both comfort and performance.

Polly's up and around

This one-ton patient has become a celebrity

By Susan Wilson

It's over two weeks since Polly, the eight-year-old Belgian mare owned by Jim Walker and his uncle Russell Walker, was partially paralysed while giving birth. Her recovery continues to proceed exactly as predicted.

"We said right along that she'd get up when she was ready to and that's exactly what's happened," Jim Walker said last Friday afternoon in the field where Polly has been recuperating. "She's getting up on her own about eight or ten times a day now. She's also eating grass all by herself and today she walked over to take a drink out of the water barrel. The only thing we still have to feed her is the supplements."

Because the Walkers' farm is right on Highway 35 just north of the Red Umbrella Inn Road, Polly has become something of a media star. Before last week's story in The Times, rumours were as thick as black flies about what had really happened to her and what her fate might be. Since then, however, people have been stopping by all week long, knowing that she would be all right.

"People have been coming from all over since they read about her in the paper," says Walker. "We're probably going to get a lot of tourists stopping by this weekend too."

While Polly is still wobbly when she stands up—which she does entirely of her own choice—she usually stays on her feet for 15 minutes or so; the longest she's been up is about an hour. Walker still stays with her throughout the day and night—spelled off by his uncle Russell or his neighbours the Schmidts—because she might decide to lie down in an unsuitable part of the field. But other than that, and rubbing her with salves and mustard mixtures, she's starting to take care of herself.

Polly will probably spend another week in Walker's field. Then she'll move across the road to the Fairfields where Jim Fairfield has been preparing a small corral for her. "She'll be safer there than around other horses for a while," says Walker, "until she gets more of her strength back."

So if you're driving along the highway and you don't see her in the field on the west side of the road, don't assume that something terrible has happened. Just check out the east side. And if you decide to stop and say hello, Polly would appreciate it if you brought an apple.

Polly is now up and walking around several times a day as she continues her successful recuperation. Co-owner Jim Walker holds his son, Kevin, up so the boy can feed the Belgian mare an apple. As she regains her strength, she's eating all the time—eating, in fact, like a horse!

Monmouth tax hike is lowest in the county

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

In a year when most rate-payers in Haliburton County are experiencing tax hikes of 15 to 20 per cent, Monmouth council has passed a budget limiting the increase in the mill rate to just 9.82 per cent.

The total amount raised by taxation in Monmouth Township this year is up 11.9 per cent from last year to $564,262. The total estimated expenditures for 1988 have increased by 30 per cent to $755,983.

The Municipal portion of the budget increased by 14.8 per cent to $216,409. Big-ticket items in the 1989 estimates include a new garage complex for the Monmouth roads department, new equipment for the fire department and improvements to the landfill site.

The new garage will cost a total of $600,000 to be paid for over two years. Of the $300,000 to be spent this year, $254,000 is being covered by a provincial grant.

The township is purchasing new air packs for the fire department at a cost of $11,000. Improvements to the landfill site required by the Ministry of the Environment include the hiring of a caretaker and installation of a fence and gate which will cost $15,000.

Archie Stouffer Elementary School students Matthew Heffer, Meaghan Obee, Julie-Ann Adam and Keith MacKenzie are helping to arrange a recycling depot for discarded plastics.

ASES kids help with recycling

Plastics recycling depot June 17

A group of students from Archie Stouffer Elementary School in Minden are helping to set up a plastics recycling depot at the school on June 17.

Julie-Ann Adams, Matthew Heffer, Keith MacKenzie and Meaghan Obee have been convincing their fellow students to encourage their parents to save up all their plastic shopping bags instead of throwing them away. Julie-Ann, who is the co-ordinator of this project, says most students have been told how they can get the bags ready for recycling. She said they should be turned inside out to make sure there are no paper slips inside and then they should be tied together into one long strand.

The work these enrichment students are doing on this project is mainly being done outside of school. Their job is to promote the effort and to help out during the three hours the depot will be open. The hours of the depot are from 11:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. on June 17.

People who are saving their waste plastic for recycling should be aware that milk and bread bags should not be saved.

Murray Clarke, who arranged the first plastics recycling project at Eagle Lake last month, said the bread and milk bags can't be recycled because the starches in the food will have affected the plastic.

Grocery bags, plastic tubs and plastic containers with their paper labels removed can all be recycled, he says.

Clarke, who takes the waste plastic to Plasti-Cycle in Mississauga, says the trial run of plastic from Eagle Lake worked out well. He said 85 per cent of what was collected was recycled. The only things that didn't work were the milk and bread bags.

Clarke said there was no notice of that first recycling project because he was looking at it as a trial run and he wanted it to be small.

Store owner rides merry-go-round over pump

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

Ingoldsby General Store owner Bruce Metherall has found himself riding a bureaucratic merry-go-round in an effort to make improvements to his business.

Metherall wants to install gas pumps at the docks across the road from his store to service boaters on Soyers, Kaskagawigamog and Canning Lakes. He realizes he needs permission from a variety of government agencies and different levels but he can't find anyone willing to go first.

Metherall attended the last meeting of Minden council to try and get municipal approval for his plan. He explained that he already has a tank and pump at his store but would like to run a line under the county road to a pump on the lake side.

He said he's been in touch with the Ministry of Natural Resources about the proposal and they suggested that he present the plan to municipal council. He brought with him a list of adjacent property owners who support the idea of a second pump.

But council told Metherall that because the road is a county road and the lake-front is controlled by the ministry the municipality has no authority to approve or reject his proposal.

"We're the least of your players," said councillor Mike Maher.

"Everyone else seems to think you're the most, because it's your township,"

Back-lot talks put on hold, Council weighs pros, cons

Minden Council has deferred any discussion on back-lot development until next week's regular meeting of council.

Back-lot development has been the focus of debate at both the council and Planning Advisory Committee levels lately and one of the major complaints is that the municipality's current policy is not clear enough in defining back-lots.

Reeve Ray Moore has said he will bring the discussion to the council table for consideration but when he attempted to open the topic at last Thursday's meeting the councillors said they wanted time to research the issue and consider options.

They also expressed the desire to hear from Bernie and Jim Davis, two Minden residents who have requested an audience with the council to voice their concerns about back-lot development.

The Davis' are scheduled to appear at next Thursday's council meeting to discuss the issue and hear councillors' views on the matter.

Complex application process

responded Metherall.

Before the waterfront pump can be installed, Metherall said he has to get approval from the Fuel Safety Branch of the Ministry of the Environment.

Because the application to the ministry is so complex and involved, Metherall said he would like to have the approval of the other concerned agencies before taking that step. "Everyone's involved but no one wants to go first."

By-law officer Brad Bradamore said Metherall would have to rezone his property to allow for the operation of the pumps but council said that was the only aspect of the project they have authority over.

It was suggested to Metherall that he send copies of all correspondence with other agencies to the township so they can start a file on the project

Students, families ride for CF

The Deep Bay Road south of Minden was abuzz with the hum of bicycle tires June 4. Close to 50 area residents had responded to an invitation by the Minden Kinsmen Club to join them in a fund raising effort to benefit cystic fibrosis research.

The bike-a-thon raised $2159.55 for CF research.

The riders included youngsters from the school and a number of families. They had gathered pledges from their friends and acquaintances based on the 15 km length of the course. Every rider successfully navigated the circuit, although some of the older participants found it more than challenging.

Kinsmen spokesman, Larry Amyotte paid tribute to a group of students from Archie Stouffer Elementary School who provided the enthusiasm and motivation for the event. Amyotte explained that Ted Pipe, Jarret Wright and Andrew Sharpcott had read in The Times about Minden area youngster Jason Lougheed who suffers from cystic fibrosis. They mentioned their concern to teacher Bernie Davis who directed the youths to the Kinsmen Club.

The local club has long been a supporter of CF research and were aware of the special needs of Jason. The Kinsmen were delighted with the students' interest and suggested they help the club to organize the fund raiser. With the three as their promotion agents at the school, the ride was held a week ago with more than $2000 being raised.

The weather was ideal for the ride with bright sunshine and a cooling breeze. After completing the distance, the cyclists were treated to a hot dog luncheon.

The Kinsmen also honoured some of the top fund raisers taking part in the event. Among the senior students, Cori Barkwell brought in the highest amount of pledges for girls, while Raymond Ranson was the top boy. Among the junior students Jamie Reid and Phillip Daniels share the fund-raising honours. The adult bring in the most pledges was Jason's aunt, Val Lougheed. The Kinsmen also had a representative taking part in the event. Norma Amyotte completed the course and brought in $785 for CF research. All of the top fund raisers received a plaque recognizing their efforts.

Norma Amyotte, right, raised over $700 as a Kinsmen Club rider. Some of the top fund raisers and student motivators, below, include, from the left, Ted Pipe and Jarret Wright, Jamie Reid, Val Lougheed and Cori Barkwell.

Hi Kids!

Here is another puzzle for you with a word list. Look in the diagram of letters for the words given in the list. Find them by reading up, down, forward, backward and diagonally. They are all in a straight line and do not skip letters. Circle the words in the diagram and cross it off the list.

It's as easy as that. Have fun!

These ladies are walking so their friends can ride

The purchase of a new bus for Hyland Crest is almost within sight. It's only seven kilometres down the road and Stella Stinson and Grace Coburn are planning to make that walk on June 24. Supporters of Hyland Crest are organizing a walkathon for that day and the theme of the effort is "We're walking so our seniors can ride." The present bus that is used extensively by the residents of Hyland Crest is almost 13 years old and has certainly seen better days. For the past few years a fundraising drive has been underway to replace the old bus and so far $12,000 has been raised. In all they will need $75,000. Some other fundraising efforts that are underway include sales of their cookbook, and a raffle on a barbecue.

Some of the events to look forward to at Hyland Crest include the Pen Pal barbecue on June 14. Twenty seven students from Archie Stouffer Elementary School have been writing to the residents and at noon on June 14 they will all get together for a cook-out. On June 28 there is a Strawberry tea planned that will start at 2 p.m. and run until 4 p.m. And on June 30, the residents will be treated to a dog show at 1:30 p.m. which is being organized by Rhonda Frances.

Fine fashion in My Size

Finding clothing outside the "usual" size range for women is often a difficult task. Finding clothing in those sizes, which are fashionable, stylish or created with a little flair is even more difficult.

That is the motivation which prompted Shirley Kuni and her daughter Kim to open a clothing store in Minden. It was just over a year ago that her store, My Size, opened at the Hi-View mall on Highway 35. In that time, she has quickly realized that she wasn't alone in her quest for fashion.

Even before the doors of the store opened, eager and curious shoppers were inquiring about the stock the retail outlet would carry. From those early days to her first anniversary, the interest and support has continued to grow. And, it is not only local ladies who have taken to the store. My Size has attracted a loyal following of city residents as well. Many make the trip from Hamilton, Toronto or Oshawa, combining it with a visit to the cottage, to browse through the extensive selection of ladieswear and accessories.

Featuring sizes eight through 44, the popularity of My Size has grown as much by personal recommendation as by anything else. "Our fashions speak for themselves," owner Shirley Kuni says. "When people see one of our clients in an outfit they purchased here, they inquire and one contact just leads to another."

Shirley also attributes the success of the store to personal service. "We spend time with our customer to ensure she is happy with her purchase.

Basically, if they look good in the outfits they purchased here, we look good," she concluded.

Rockcliffe dominates at annual slow pitch tournament

The Minden Midget B & J ESSO baseball team held their second annual slow pitch tournament June 2 and 3 at the local diamonds.

Eight teams from the community took part in the tournament including the Minden Firefighters, Kevin Smith, Jason Stamp, Minden Rockcliffe, Dwayne Warburton, Lorne Burgess, Jeff Howe and Craig Smith.

The tournament started Friday night with Kevin Smith's team pounding Dwayne Warburton's squad 29-4.

The second game saw the Minden Firefighters smoked by the Rockcliffe team 30-0.

Saturday morning, started out with a close game as Jason Stamp's team went down to defeat 13-10 at the hands of Craig Smith's squad.

Jeff Howe's nine then tripled on the entry behind Lorne Burgess, defeating them 30-10.

They were waving some heavy bats on the weekend, but Brian Shaw was packing the most power. He pounded the ball over the fence seven times.

The knock-out round on the consolation side saw the firefighters eliminate Dwayne Warburton's team 19-14. In the second consolation game, Stamp's team eliminated Burgess 14-10. Stamp advanced to the consolation final, however they lost to the firefighters 17-15.

On the championship side, Rockcliffe downed the Smith entry 14-0, advancing to the final round. Howe's team managed to squeak by Smith's 13-10 and went on to face the Rockcliffe nine in the final showdown.

The Rockcliffe hit 15 of their 21 runs out of the park. Howe's team scored all of their runs on homers too, seven in total. This gave the Rockcliffe entry the championship.

Winner of the home run title was Brian Shaw with seven and Erin Nichols, second with five. Shaw won an Export cooler bag filled with a cool beverage.

The championship team received $180, while the runners-up were presented with $90. In the consolation round, the champs received $110, with the runner-up getting $55.

Serving as umpires for the weekend were Gene Newell, Ivan Ingram, Dwain Lennie, and Doreen Piquette. Scorekeeper was Donald Smith.

The next three pitch tournament will be held July 21, 22 and 23. The organizers are looking for 16 teams to participate so keep that date in mind. For more information, contact Kevin or Craig Smith at 286-3680.

Craig Smith lofts a nice pitch to one of his teammates in one of the later games of the tournament.

Gary Smith darts back to first base to beat the throw after a teammate flew out.

Newfer Burke is greeted at home plate by his team after pounding one over the fence of the lower diamond. This was one of his two home runs of the game. Burke's team went on to the championship round by winning this game a close 13-10.

will accept in order to subsidize the township for maintenance of the road.

At the time of the offer, Campbell said the residents were disappointed that the council had not agreed to lay down hot-mix asphalt, which he maintains was the intent of the original agreement.

The residents have been considering the offer since it was made in April and have consulted with a lawyer over the possibility of taking the township to court. But this week, Campbell said the association doesn't want to wait any longer for improvements to the roads.

"We were faced with the pressure of having sat for seven years waiting for the work to be done on the road," Campbell told The Times on Friday. He said the residents feel they could have won the right to asphalt in a court battle but it would have meant another two years of waiting. "That wasn't acceptable," he said.

"The township council was intent in getting the road subsidized the absolutely cheapest way possible," said Campbell. "We were not about to stop them. We want to have the road subsidized too but tar and gravel is not what is in the by-law."

Council has already budgeted for the work to be done this year and told the residents at the time of the offer, the paving could take place in August.

No surprise in Chamber's choice

The decision to disregard price as a factor in the Haliburton Highlands Travel Guide came as no surprise to Chamber of Commerce Director Anne Barker.

At the June 1 Chamber meeting the directors voted in favour of accepting the bid from Guilford Graphics to publish the chamber's travel guide in spite of the fact that it wasn't the lowest bid. A second lower bid from Highlands Printing and AdVenture Marketing was disregarded.

Two other printers expressed an interest in bidding on the guide but had asked for more information from the chamber before submitting a bid.

Barker, who is County Council's representative on the chamber, said she wasn't surprised that the contract was handed over to Guilford Graphics. She hinted that the decision had been made before the tenders were even opened. "There's too much politicking going on outside this table," she said. "Things are settled before we sit down to talk about it."

To illustrate her point, Barker opened a sealed envelope on which the name Guilford Graphics was printed out. She said she wrote it down before the meeting because she knew who the contract would be going to.

The difference in price between the two bids will be passed directly on to resorts and businesses that advertise in the guide. The price for a full page ad in this year's guide will be $3,450—the same as last year. Highlands Printing, however, was willing to charge $375 less for a page.

In spite of assurances from Janice Lowes of Highlands Printing of a quality product, some of the board members assumed it would be "shoddy".

Chamber Director Chris Bishop, who presented both bids to the board, said the board should consider more than the cost when deciding which proposal to accept. He said Guilford Graphics did the guide last year and everyone was pleased with it.

Last year's guide, in fact, was done by the Central Ontario Travel Association (COTA). According to Barker, Don Beard of Guilford Graphics was in charge of selling the ads. The reason that bids were invited on the guide was that this was the first year it was being done by someone other than COTA, said Chamber President John Mateer.

Brian Watts also argued against accepting the bid from Highland Printing. He said that company would produce an "inferior product" and told Barker that "I know a lot of inside things you probably don't know."

Janice Lowes, who prepared the bid for Highlands Printing, said she was not surprised by the chamber's response. She said she is dissatisfied but would be willing to bid again next year.

In response to the comments made by Watts, she said he was probably talking about some work she did for Ontario Snowmobile magazine. She said a company that she used to work for still owes money to the magazine.

The vote to accept the bid from Guilford Graphics was carried with eight votes in favour and two opposed. Chamber Manager Shirley Rapson then suggested that a letter of appreciation be sent to Don Beard for the good job he did on the guide in the past.

Chemical run-off is spoiling ground water

These practices plus the absence of renewing organic material have led to the need for increasing amounts of chemical fertilizers.

But it is not only the farmer who pays the cost of this new treatment of the soil. The run-off from agricultural land increases sedimentation in all our waterways and seriously affects water quality and aquatic life. Also the increased use of chemicals is poisoning groundwater. However, the warnings of the senate committee about soil degradation have stirred the provinces, including Ontario, into positive action to encourage soil conservation techniques.

Some of these practices look surprisingly like the old methods my generation remembers. The government suggests preventing erosion by sewing a cover crop such as red clover, winter wheat or rye; interspersing forage crops with grain, crop rotation and strip cropping. As well, they encourage less intensive tillage, the use of windbreaks and hedgerows, and the use of grassed waterways and rock chutes to dissipate the force of heavy rains.

In response to requests for information on soil conservation, the Federation of Ontario Naturalists in conjunction with the Soil and Water Conservation Society, Ontario Chapter, is producing a Soil Kit for grades 7 - 10 which will be ready for use this fall. Information on the kit can be obtained by phoning the FON at (416) 444-8419. Also, with the help of a grant from Environment Canada, the FON has run a soil workshop for teachers during Environment Week.

If you are interested in learning more about soil conservation, and about your soil in particular, soil testing kits are available from your local office of the Ministry of Agriculture and Food for $7.00. For this fee you will receive a written analysis of your soil, and suggestions on how to make up any deficiencies. Questions about soil problems or requests for brochures on soil conservation should be addressed to Ministry of Agriculture and Food, the Horticulturalist, Consumers Information Centre, 801 Bay Street, Toronto, M7A 2B2.

Keep the plates when your car sells

The Ministry of Transportation reminds everyone that Ontario is operating under a plate-to-owner system. When you sell or change vehicles, you remove the plates and keep them for your next vehicle of the same type. The plates are not transferable to someone else.

With regard to your vehicle permit, the description must match that of the vehicle itself. If the vehicle is modified—change of colour, etc.—you must apply for a new permit within six days. This also applies when the owner changes his/her name or address. The re-registration can be done at any Ministry of transportation licence issuing office or by using the change of information stub on the vehicle permit.

Also, all vehicles must be insured for a minimum third party liability coverage of $200,000. This covers bodily injury, death and property damage. Collision insurance is recommended but not compulsory to cover any damage to your vehicle in the event of an accident to in which you are to fault.

For a selection of booklets, contact the Ministry of Transportation office or your local Haliburton County Information Centre. In Haliburton, the office is open 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. or call 457-2733. In Minden, every Tuesday, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. or call 286-4100.

Ministry strives to improve forests

This past year, the forest management branch of the Ministry of Natural Resources, has been carrying out silviculture activities on Crown and private lands in the Minden district.

Many of these activities were completed in conjunction with logging activities.

On Crown land there have been seven active operations since last summer, totalling some 460 hectares. Most of these were located in Hindon Township.

Harvesting on private land under Ministry management took place on 17 different properties during 1988/89. The total land area involved was 650 hectares. The main product from most of this property was saw logs. In stands where the trees were smaller or of poorer quality, fuelwood was primarily produced.

In addition to these commercial operations, there were a number of non-commercial tending treatments (girdling) applied to 150 hectares on Crown land and another 180 hectares on private land.

One of the Ministry's most important activities is tree marking or designating the trees to be removed from the forest. This activity took place on 450 hectares of Crown land and 753 hectares of privately owned land during 1988-89.

Tree planting makes up only a small part of the ministry's work program in Minden. This past year 50,000 trees were planted on 29 hectares—all on private land under Woodlands Improvement Act.

A small amount of site preparation work was also completed. This is necessary prior to planting on some sites and was applied on 47 hectares of Crown land and three hectares of private land.

Under our advisory extension service, we provided assistance to many landowners during the year. Approximately 125 field inspections were carried out to advise on such things as tree planting; cutting sawlogs and fuelwood; insect and disease problems. In addition, we prepared two exhibits and presented illustrated talks to eight local groups.

The foregoing is typical of the workload of the ministry's forest management branch. Staff have already begun work on other projects for the coming year.

Walkathon is on June 24

I am sorry I made an error in the Senior League column last week in the date of the Walkathon. I had June 14. It should have read June 24.

The U.C.W. of Minden provided a delicious tea Thursday as well as enjoyable music and singing after the tea.

The Residents' Council Executive held a special meeting and it was agreed to change the Residents' Council meetings from the first Thursday of the month, after the tea party, to the first Monday of the month at 2 o'clock in the arts and crafts room.

Friday, just for a change, the residents had a finger lickin' good lunch in the auditorium. They each paid for their own and chose what they preferred. Doris took our orders and picked them up at General Lee's. For dessert we got ice cream bars. Several volunteers came to serve, Pat Bradburn, Mary Guilman and Molly McCarthy. Thank you, the residents really appreciated the help after lunch. Lucille Clarke played the piano and she could play any of the

senior league

by Winnifred Barnum

requests and many more, by car. It was enjoyable and we thank her immensely.

Saturday, Terry took me out for lunch. Anna Gordon and her friend were going for a vacation, so Anna took her mother, Pearl Lyle to Sundridge to see son Robert for the week while they travelled around.

Ian McGuire is in Peterborough Hospital at present.

Alice Rivers is back at Hyland Crest after being in hospital.

Rev. John Burgess conducted the chapel service Sunday night. Instead of having the regular sermon, he read a true story of a lady's life, which was enjoyed by the residents.

Congratulations to Vera Harrison who had a birthday June 2.

Tuesday we were scheduled to go by bus to N.J.'s Roadhouse for lunch, but some work had to be done on the bus, so we couldn't use it. As an alternative, Linda and Doris took eight of the residents in two cars out for lunch, which they enjoyed. Thank you, girls, for taking them and for your thoughtfulness.

In the afternoon, Linda showed a movie in the auditorium called, "The Little Lost Dog". we really enjoyed the film.

Since Tuesday June 6 was my birthday, Terry and Norma came and took me out for dinner. When I got back, Everett Fearrey was playing his guitar and singing for the residents. He is very faithful, and unless he is sick, he never misses when he says he will come. We sincerely thank him.

Carl and Eva Sisson, May Horsley's brother from Lindsay, visited May on Wednesday.

Wednesday afternoon we had the Happy Wanderer's choir from Coboconk to entertain us in the auditorium. They are a wonderful group and we enjoyed them very much. They are a senior group who travel to many places to sing.

Pastor Murray of Allsaw is holding a service in the main lounge tonight, Wednesday.

IN MEMORIAM

COLTMAN: In loving memory of Ian D. Colman Sr., who died June 17, 1987.

Remembering you is easy
We do it every day.
Missing you is the heart-ache,
That never goes away.
To some you may be forgotten
To others a part of the past
But to those of us who loved you
Your memory will always last.
Lovingly remembered by Mary and family.

In loving memory of a dear Dad and Grandpa who passed away June 10, 1982.

He never said goodbye to us
He never saw the tears
But he left us beautiful memories
We will treasure through the years.
Sadly missed by Loretta and Dave, Audress and Don, Sharon and Allan and families.

VOICEY: In loving memory of my dear husband, Joe, who passed away June 10th, 1982.

As time unfolds another year
Memories keep you ever near
My heart still aches with pain
And silent tears still flow
For you who meant so much to me
Through the years we had together
Your thoughts you often spoke of
Of how things would be for me
Should you be gone and I be left
Darling I miss you so, but all is well
Our loved ones, friends and neighbours
Care for me well from day to day
God our Father is my strength and refuge
So my darling, rest in peace
Till we meet again.
Lovingly remembered and very sadly missed by your wife, Alice.
